

College of Teaching

Will the College of Teaching be run by large organisations?

- The College of Teaching will be governed by a Board of Trustees; at least half of its members will be qualified teachers supported by other professionals with skills needed to run a robust professional body.
- A Selection Committee, with experience in primary, secondary and SEN from across local, independent, government-funded and direct-funded schools, leads the recruitment of Founding Trustees.
- The committee were nominated to represent the diversity of experience and expertise in the teaching profession by academy principals, unions including ASCL, NAHT, NUT, ATL and Voice the Union and wider organisations including the National Governors' Association, ISC and LGA.
- A key role of the Board is to ensure that the College focuses on the profession's duty to the public, remains independent of any vested interest, whether that is from another organisation, from government, or from any other group.
- As the College grows and develops it is anticipated that future Trustees will be increasingly drawn from a growing pool of Chartered members from within the College.
- College members will come together to create respected standards of practice.
- The College will recognise and reward excellence and expertise through Chartered status - and will help to counter the status quo where standards are set outside the profession.

- The College of Teaching is the new chartered professional body for the teaching profession.
- The Claim Your College coalition, backed by over 450 organisations and individuals, is taking forward developments around the College of Teaching in collaboration with practising teachers, school leaders, unions, subject associations and other leading education bodies and third sector organisations.
- Claim Your College is underpinned by a determination that our current activity is a stepping stone to a teacher-led future. We will not allow anything or anyone to impose their will on the long-term future of what must be a profession-led College. We are dedicated to making the voice of the serving teacher paramount over the three-year incubation and consultation period of the College.
